COMMITTEE FINDS CHARGE BASELESS

Rev. James Buchanan Totally Vindicated as Result of Investigation.

WORK HIGHLY COMMENDED

Should Have Thanks of City for Work of Constructive Charity.

Fulfilling the universal expectation, the committee appointed to investigate the charges made against Rev. James Buchanan, superintendent of the Associated Charities, has reported a vindication. Not only this, but positive evidence is given to the minister and to his work. The committee takes occasion to say that "so far from being condemned, your general secretary deserves unqualified praise, and should have the thanks of the whole community for what he has accomplished along the lines of constructive charity."

The report was presented to a meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Charities, held yesterday in the office of President Robert Lecky, Jr. Resolutions were adopted thanking the committee for its labors and asking that the entire report be made public.

The committee's statement is signed by all the members save Rev. J. T. Mastin, who was out of the city, and who, it is believed, will concur in its conclusions.

Mr. Buchanan was present and expressed his appreciation of the public confidence which had been made manifest to him since the charges were brought. The evidences of friendship, he said, have been most welcome.

The committee's report is signed by all the members save Rev. J. T. Mastin, who was out of the city, and who, it is believed, will concur in its conclusions.

The undersigned committee, appointed for the purpose of inquiring into certain charges reflecting upon the work of this organization in general, and upon its secretary, Mr. James Buchanan, in particular, beg leave to submit the following report:

At a meeting of the committee, notice of appointment on Thursday, June 2, and realizing the importance of prompt action, it was decided to start the investigation on Friday, June 3, at 4 o'clock P. M., in the gymnasium of the Associated Charities building. Notice of this meeting was given by publication in the daily papers and otherwise.

At the hour named, the investigation, which was diligently prosecuted from time to time until Tuesday, June 7, when the examination of witnesses closed. Full minutes of these proceedings were carefully noted by the secretary and are returned herewith as part of our report. From this record it will be seen that twenty-seven witnesses were formally examined, and a number of oral statements made. We spared no effort to secure the attendance of all those who had, or were supposed to have, any information touching the matter in hand, and every one who wished to be heard was accorded the opportunity of doing so without let or hindrance. All rules of evidence were disregarded, and the earnest desire to make our investigation as thorough and complete, that no one, however unfriendly, could question its fairness or fail to acquiesce in the result.

Indictment Formed. The first step for your committee was to formulate for itself something like an indictment upon which to try the case. After due consideration of what was available it seemed that such indictment would contain five counts, namely: (1) that the Associated Charities building was kept in a filthy condition; (2) that the food supplied to the beneficiaries was mean and unfit for them; (3) that there has been graft in the administration of its affairs; (4) that Mr. Buchanan is cruel in his treatment of those under his care; and (5) that he has been guilty of improper conduct. These several charges may be disposed of very briefly in the order named:

1. The filthy building. This charge, though far from being original, is nevertheless, seems to have been forgotten by the critics of your institution when put upon the stand as witnesses. There is not a word of evidence tending to sustain the charge. On the contrary, it abundantly appears that the building is kept "marvelously clean"; that when the Associated Charities took possession of this place it was in a horribly dirty and dilapidated condition; that the building has been completely renovated and fully supplied to its present purposes; that this was done by the labor of men who would otherwise have been supported in idleness; and that the improvements so made upon the property are of value to many thousands of dollars.

2. The food supply. Very little evidence was given in disparagement of the food, and the charges were not supported by the critics of your institution when put upon the stand as witnesses. There is not a word of evidence tending to sustain the charge. On the contrary, it abundantly appears that the food is kept "marvelously clean"; that when the Associated Charities took possession of this place it was in a horribly dirty and dilapidated condition; that the building has been completely renovated and fully supplied to its present purposes; that this was done by the labor of men who would otherwise have been supported in idleness; and that the improvements so made upon the property are of value to many thousands of dollars.

3. Graft in the administration. It was said that Mr. Buchanan had sent clothing given him for the poor to the store of one Siegel and shared the profits therefrom with himself. This charge was examined as a witness and emphatically denied ever having received any clothing from Mr. Buchanan or divided with him the profits of any transaction. The testimony of the witnesses and others utterly disproved the charge, for which no one appeared to stand sponsor.

4. Cruelty of Mr. Buchanan. So far from establishing this charge, the testimony shows that your general secretary is a man of kind, sympathetic disposition and impressed with a deep sense of responsibility for the wayward and the unfortunate; that he is inclined to err, if at all, on the side of leniency, and that his treatment of those who come under his care is most humane and uplifting. This might be no great virtue if his work were confined to sane and honest dependents. But one occupying the position which Mr. Buchanan holds is constantly dealing with abnormal types of humanity, with the mentally degenerate, the depraved, the criminal—and it would not be strange if in his intercourse with such difficult characters he should sometimes lose patience or even resort to violence. But there is no reliable evidence that Mr. Buchanan, under whatever provocation, has ever lost his self-control or behaved unseemly.

5. Improper conduct. There is absolutely nothing in this charge. The only pretext for it was the incredible statement of a poor girl, confessedly immoral, mentally unstable and shown to be unworthy of belief on oath. Over against this stands the solid testimony of reputable people, who have had every opportunity to observe Mr. Buchanan's manner of life under all circumstances for years past. These tell of his purity in thought, word and deed, of his circumspection and of his high sense of honor. Then, too, we have the minister's own statement, weighty and convincing, that the story is false.

Without unduly prolonging this report, your committee is satisfied that the charges in question are totally devoid of merit; that the conduct of Mr. Buchanan has been above reproach, and that the work of this association is administered not only honestly, but according to methods best approved by modern sociology. We feel justified in expressing in saying that so far from being condemned, your general secretary deserves unqualified praise and should have the thanks of the whole community for what he has accomplished along the lines of constructive charity.

The Associated Charities is an institution of which Richmond may well be proud. Nothing but a better understanding of its work is needed to insure the sympathy and co-operation of the public. So, while deprecating the circumstances which brought about the appointment of this committee, we hope to believe that its much-advertised investigation will serve to strengthen the cause as it could have been in no other way.

The thanks of your board are due to Hill Manager for assisting us in the examination of witnesses, as also to Dr. Mastin and Jeffrey Montague, who kindly consented to sit with the committee in an advisory capacity. A stenographic report of the testimony, taken by John G. Winston, is returned herewith. It will be paid by members of the board.

COLLECTOR LOWRY GOES TO STAFFORD CONVENTION Collector of Internal Revenue M. K. Lowry, Republican county chairman of Stafford, left yesterday afternoon for Louisa Court-house. He will go to Stafford Courthouse to-morrow and attend the convention of the Virginia Taxpayers' Association. The convention is for the purpose of selecting delegates from the Ninth Congressional District to the National Convention of the Virginia Taxpayers' Association, to be held at Alexandria on June 25. Collector Lowry is recognized as a power in politics in Stafford county.

COUNTY GOING AFTER SPEEDERS The Board of Supervisors of Henrico county met yesterday with the special police officers and constables of the county, including the sheriff and deputy sheriff, and held a conference to decide what could be done to put a stop to speeding automobiles in the county. The meeting was held behind closed doors. Another meeting will be held on Wednesday to perfect the plans, and then every officer in the county will go after the violators of the speed law.

The meeting was called by the Board of Supervisors, because of the complaints in regard to speeding. Citizens of the county declare that life itself is in danger and that something must be done to stop the speeders.

The dog license question also came up before the board yesterday morning, when Commissioner Watt appeared with a statement showing that numbers of dogs in the county were yet unlicensed. The board declared that it had nothing to do with the matter, and that Mr. Watt would have to use his own judgment about the matter.

Licensed Issued. A license to do business in Virginia was issued yesterday by the State Corporation Commission to a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey, Richard T. Wilson, of Richmond, statutory agent. Maximum capital authorized by charter, $100,000. Objects and purposes: Manufacturing and dealing in soapstones.

A license to do business in Virginia was also issued to Dr. Selma D. J. S. J. incorporated, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Maryland. Arthur J. Morris, of Norfolk, statutory agent. Maximum capital authorized by charter, $1,000. Objects and purposes: Manufacturing and dealing in dental supplies.

LEIGH STREET BAPTIST TO RECEIVE NEW ORGAN In many features the finest church organ in Richmond will soon be installed in the Leigh Street Baptist Church. It is given by W. C. Farish as a memorial to his wife, formerly president of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

The instrument will have one stop, which no other organ in this country possesses. Another stop has only four duplicates. It is a work of art, and will be a great help to the installation and voicing of the organ. The organist of the Leigh Street Baptist Church, Mr. M. L. Leach, who has filed that position for sixteen years.

There are Hundreds of Makes of Roofing Tin On the market; but they are nameless makes. They are nameless because there is nothing superior in them. Pearl L. C. Roofing Tin has a name and a trade-mark. It is superior and guaranteed.

WELLS MADE JUDGE BY APPOINTMENT BUTTERFLY FOLK OUT FOR BOOST

Attorney-General Says This Removes Doubt of Validity of Court.

QUESTION NOW IS SALARY

Apparent Doubt as to Which Law Applies—Ugly Situation Averted.

Governor Mann has appointed and commissioned Judge Ernest H. Wells, former justice of the peace, to the court of the city of Manchester, as Judge of Hustings Court, Part 2, of Richmond. This action has been accepted by Attorney-General Samuel W. Williams as settling the validity of the court, and he has notified the Auditor of Public Accounts.

While Judge Williams has never at any time made any statement regarding this matter, except his formal opinion to the Auditor, it may be reasonably supposed that a very serious situation has been averted.

City Attorney Henry R. Pollard, Judge Wells himself and other lawyers, have asserted positively that in their opinion the court is valid and has always been valid. It is evident that Judge Williams did not take this view of the case, since in his written opinion he gives the appointment by the Governor as the reason for the removal of doubt as to the legality of Hustings Court, Part 2.

The conclusion is therefore apparently logical that the Attorney-General doubted this legality, since, had he agreed with the attorney who drew the consolidation ordinance, there would have been no occasion for appointment of the judge nor was there any one to make such a demand or suggestion of the Governor.

On all sides this termination of the case is regarded as satisfactory. It removes the last vestige of doubt as to the validity of the judge's court, in what was once Manchester and as to the regularity of all of Judge Wells's decisions. Of course, inasmuch as he has been acting judge prior to the appointment, the official actions of the court de facto will stand.

Had the court's decision been that the court was illegal, which may be argued from the facts would have been the case except for the appointment, much confusion would have arisen. The matter would then have gone to the Supreme Court, a writ of mandamus involving the salary.

Question Now of Salary. While, however, the serious question as to the court's validity has now been settled, there still remains the doubt as to the amount of salary to be paid Judge Wells by the Auditor.

The opinion of the Attorney-General is not explicit, apparently, on this point. He tells the Auditor "you need make no further question as to the payment of his salary, as other judges of the courts of the city of Richmond are paid under the laws of Virginia."

Now other judges of the courts of the city of Richmond are paid $3,500 a year by the State, "under the laws of Virginia." The judge of the Corporation Court of the city of Manchester is paid $2,000 by the State under the same laws, which law applies.

This matter apparently has been figured out by the Auditor. However, the matter is now narrowed down to the personal interests of Judge Wells, one citizen and officer, while under the status prior to the opinion of yesterday, it might have concerned a great many of the citizens of the consolidated city.

Judge Williams's written opinion, addressed to Auditor Mayre, is as follows: "In the matter referred to me in regard to the salary of Hon. Ernest H. Wells, judge, I advise as follows: "Judge Wells has continued to perform the functions of his office, and all of his judicial acts under the law are valid, and all judgments and proceedings of his court are legal and binding."

"All possible doubt which may have existed as to his tenure of office has been removed by the action of the Governor in appointing and commissioning Judge Wells as judge of the Hustings Court, Part 2, of the city of Richmond, and you need make no further question as to the payment of his salary, as other judges of the courts of the city of Richmond are paid under the laws of Virginia."

CAPTURE DISTILLERY IN DRY TERRITORY Information was yesterday received at the office of Revenue Agent Chapman that Deputy Collector Merritt had raided an illicit distillery near Raleigh, N. C., and captured the outfit and several hundred gallons of beer.

Plans had been laid by revenue officers to sweep down upon the "moonshiners" and capture the outfit. One copper still, 500 gallons of beer, several worms and other apparatus were confiscated, and the operators escaped.

T. P. A. Delegates From Virginia to Get Convention for Richmond if They Can.

EXPECT GREAT MEETING

Post A Leaves for Chattanooga in High Glee—Virginia Delegates.

Delegates representing local Post "A," Travelers' Protective Association, high in spirits and enthusiastic in their determination to bring the big meeting to Richmond in 1911, left last night over the Norfolk and Western Railway for Chattanooga, Tenn., where the national convention will be held this week.

The Richmond delegates were met along the line by delegations from Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport, News and Suffolk, and at Bristol the party joined representatives of other Eastern States who traveled aboard a special train.

Pinned to the lapels of their coats or otherwise conspicuously displayed about their persons, the local delegates wore gaudy butterflies, bearing the following inscription: "Richmond, Va. Population in 1900, 55,000; 1910, 140,000." Stored away in their grips were many more of these butterflies, which will be liberated to the breeze of the convention city to help boost for Richmond. Nothing will be left undone to bring the national convention to Richmond next year.

To Make Big Fight. Under the able leadership of W. T. Dabney and Mann S. Valentine, the Richmond delegates are preparing to offer every inducement, and sentiment seems to favor the selection of this city by the national representative, and the convention annually attracts 800 delegates from all over the country, many of whom bring their wives and families, which means an attendance of approximately 2,000 persons. Richmond has never had the pleasure of entertaining this large gathering, and ranks among the very first in benefits and attendance. The convention was scheduled for Richmond the year the Jefferson Hotel burned.

Many matters of importance are due to come up at the present session of the convention, and the delegates are attaches to the spirited fight which is being waged for the national secretaryship.

Candidates for national representative are Schuyler T. Logan, of Indiana, who has been an aspirant for the position on several occasions, and who is now serving as national representative, and Frank Rainbow, of Iowa, who succeeded Lewis T. La Beume, who was defeated several months ago, at the Richmond delegation's outburst for Logan, and will enter into the fight for this election.

The official list of delegates from Virginia is as follows: F. W. Brown, G. W. Rogers, J. L. Hill, W. T. Dabney, M. S. Valentine, H. L. Harwood, J. H. Grant, Horace Christian, W. K. Bache, Norbert Post "B," W. W. Williams, C. E. Billups, E. R. Barksdale, L. F. Cotter.

Petersburg—Post "C," J. E. Goodrich, L. P. Robertson, R. W. Price (President of the Virginia Division), Joseph Stebbins.

Alexandria—Post "F," A. D. Brockett, J. V. Williams.

Lynchburg—Post "G," D. W. Sale, B. R. Adams.

Blackstone—Post "H," J. E. Jones, Martinsville—Post "I," R. M. Townes, R. B. Sample (ex-president), Roanoke—Post "K," C. T. Jennings, Staunton—Post "L," W. G. Moffitt, Newmarket News—Post "M," M. S. Lewellen.

Farmville—Post "N," E. R. Booker, Fredericksburg—Post "O," D. Scott Quinn.

QUIET ELECTION SEEMS APPARENT

Voting on Tuesday at All Precincts North of River Will Be Perfunctory.

Voting in Tuesday's general election in Richmond will be a perfunctory affair, except in Washington Ward, where the presence of independent names on the official ticket will make the contest one of more than ordinary interest.

It is, of course, always possible that the friends of some citizen may organize a ward for him and have his name written on the ticket, but nothing of the kind has as yet developed, and in all human probability the Democratic nominees will be elected without opposition and with a light vote.

Under the provisions of the Byrd law, no more ardent spirits shall be sold between the hours of 6 post meridian the day before any election and the hour of 6 ante meridian on the day succeeding such election day.

Except this feature, which requires the closing of the saloons from 6 o'clock Monday afternoon until 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, one will hardly know that an election is in progress in the capital city of the State. It should be noted that the 6 o'clock hour applies, and not sunrise and sunset, as has been published.

To the Voters of Washington Ward, Greater Richmond:

Your attention is asked to the following certificate: This is to certify that the following gentlemen are the only Democratic nominees to be voted upon in the election to be held on Tuesday, June 14, 1910:

For Board of Aldermen:
J. R. PERDUE,
R. L. PATRAM,
J. W. MOORE.

For Common Council:
C. C. JONES,
L. R. BROWN,
B. A. GILL,
W. W. WORKMAN,
W. B. BRADLEY.

MILES M. MARTIN,
Chairman City Democratic Committee.

From the above, it will be seen that any person or persons opposing the above named nominees will be considered Bolters or Independents, and are not the duly authorized nominees of the Democratic party. Therefore, such person or persons, if elected, would not be allowed in the Democratic caucus of the City Council, and accordingly would be of little service to the citizens of Washington Ward; and it will be safe to say that Manchester, an old Democratic stronghold, will not be willing to elect either Bolters or Independents to the Council.

Every voter in Washington Ward is urged to go to the polls on the 14th and vote for the above named nominees, and also to request his friends to do the same.

WASHINGTON WARD DELEGATION.
